SALVATION ARMY.

The Provincial Young People's Secretary Brigadier Wm. O. Hunter, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will arrive in Hopkinsville today, to inspect the Young People's work of the local Salvation Army Corps. The Brigadier is also War Secretary for this Province. There will be a public meeting to-night at the Salvation Army hall. A program has been arranged which will be rendered by some of the children of the Sunday school. On Sunday night the Brigadier will address a united meeting of the Christian Endeavor union at the First Christian church. A special invitation is extended to the public to attend these services.

NEW OWNER FOR CERULEAN

T. O. TURNER SELLS THE FAMOUS WATERING PLACE TO J. M. MURCHIE.

A business deal that has been pending for some time was closed last Friday when T. O. Turner turned over the Cerulean Springs hotel property to Mr. J. M. Murchie, of Vicksburg, representing a company of business men.

With the hotel goes the hotel park and store room, which covers thirty or forty acres of ground. In the deal Mr. Turner becomes owner of country and town property in St. Louis and several Mississippi towns. The price for the Cerulean property has not been made public, but the figures are in the neighborhood of twenty thousand dollars.

Cerulean is a well-established summer resort, and for more than thirty years has enjoyed a splendid patronage. The hotel is modern in its arrangements and is beautifully surrounded, and under the new management is sure to continue to be the resting place of many during each season.

The new owners are planning to make extensive improvements for the approaching season, and when the opening comes early in June many new attractions may be provided for the pleasure of the guests during the coming summer.

Mr. Murchie has spent several weeks here negotiating the deal, but left last Friday for Vicksburg to arrange his plans to move to the Springs. He may give the property his personal attention during the coming season.

The sale of the hotel property will in no way affect Mr. Turner's other interests here and in other parts of the county.—Cadiz Record.

Purely Personal.

Mr. S. B. Waggoner, of Hart county, is in a very critical condition at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. L. Cowherd, on the Nashville pike. Mr. Waggoner is 74 years of age and is suffering from hardening of the arteries. He has been confined to his bed since Christmas.

R. E. Glenn, Jr., W. C. McIntosh, and Lewis Helmsley, all of Kirkmansville, were in Hopkinsville Thursday and attended the Rhea sale.

T. M. Harned, formerly of this county but now of Elkton, was here yesterday on business and dropped into the Kentucky office and renewed his subscription.

Mrs. Walter A. Radford, of Louisville, is visiting Mrs. Malcolm Lunderman, at Pembroke.

Mrs. Fred Hesse, of Evansville, is visiting Miss Lena Thacker.

Miss Mary Covington, of Russellville, is visiting Miss Bertha Thomas.

J. E. Crider, of Fredonia, was in town last night.

AS SEEN IN TODD.

Christian, one of the leading counties in the state, has taken a step back forty years by refusing to employ any longer a County Farm Demonstrator. It is noteworthy that this was done by the strict party vote of the Republican members of the Fiscal Court.—Elkton Times.

NOTICE TRUSTEES.

Supplies for taking the school census for the rural school have been received at my office and the trustees will please call for them at their earliest possible convenience.

PRINCESS TO-DAY.

"THE GUN WOMAN"

The bad man of the West, so long the favorite hero of readers of fiction, has a rival in "The Gun Woman." This five-part Triangle Western melodrama was written by Alvin J. Neitz, directed by Frank Borzage and has Texas Guinan at the head of the cast. Her role is called The Tigress, a young woman who owns the "Devil's Kitchen," a gambling hell and dance hall at La Mesa, and whose finger is as quick on the trigger as that belonging to any outlaw of the opposite sex.

Attention to details and correct location mark the production of "The Gun Woman." It is acted in the right spirit by the star and her support, which includes Ed Brady as The Bostonian, Francis MacDonald as The Gent, George Chase and Thornton Edwards as The Vultures, and Walter Perkins as the sheriff of La Mesa.

PRINCESS MONDAY.

Elsie Ferguson makes her fourth screen appearance in an Artcraft production of "The Songs of Songs," adapted from the successful stage play of that name, which was written by Edward Sheldon. The play was adapted by Charles Maigne. Miss Ferguson has already proven herself one of the great stars of the screen, as she was on the legitimate stage. Conceded to be one of the most beautiful women in America, her charm and personality appear enhanced on the screen. Her fine sense of values, and her powers as an emotional actress, as well as her beauty has been enthusiastically commented on by newspaper critics all over the country. Her previous productions, "Barbary Sheep," "The Rise of Jennie Cushing," and "Rose of the World" were all splendid successes. "The Songs of Songs" is superior, as a production, to those pictures, besides having the advantage of the great prestige and popularity which the previous playthings have secured for Miss Ferguson.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

(By Ben King Harned.)

Few people in Hopkinsville realize how much pleasure and instruction an hour's visit to the domestic economy department of the High School would afford. Seventy-four girls are in this department, twenty-two in domestic science, or cooking, and fifty-two in domestic art, or sewing. The members of both departments have a regular recitation once a week and the other days they put into practice what they have learned and experiment with practical work.

The kitchen is well equipped with all of the modern conveniences. Benches running parallel to the walls and about six feet from them furnish the individual cupboards for the girls, in which they keep their dishes and cooking utensils. On these benches are placed twenty hot plates at each of which two girls work. The instructor uses a large gas range for demonstration work. Four sinks furnish the facilities for water and washing dishes. The kitchen is equipped with electric lights in case it should become necessary on some occasion to use it at night. The refrigerator and large safes are kept in an adjoining room to the kitchen.

The girls use eighty minutes a day for their work, during which time they wear spotless white caps and aprons. Their work includes everything that would be of value to a house keeper. They learn the best ways of making coffee and teas, so that they will be most delicious and still healthful. They experiment with cooking and seasoning vegetables and not injurious. Their work also includes the preparation of all cereals and fats, as well as many experiments to determine the food values of different substances, a thing which every housekeeper needs to know, but a thing in which many of them are lacking. The girls keep notes books on the work, which can be used as reference books in the future, a treasure which any one would covet. Besides individual notes on class work these books also contain plans for kitchens arranged with one idea in view, convenience.

Recently the board has taken up the question of a dining room, and preparations are now being made to equip it. The girls have been looking forward to this addition for a long while and have turned all of their endeavors toward its accomplishment. At odd intervals the girls hold pie sales. These always sell excellently both on account of their quality, and on account of girls who sell them. With the money received from these sources the girls have nearly finished paying for the silver in the dining room, and besides they have purchased curtains for their department. When the dining room is finished besides the regular use to which it will be put for the training of the girls in the art of serving, it will be used on special occasions to serve lunch to visitors or boys and this may partly account for the girls' enthusiasm in the work.

The domestic art department is equally as interesting as the domestic science. The sewing room is provided with tables, at each of which about four girls work, a long cutting table, four machines and a fitting room which is provided with all convenience for trying on garments. In their work the girls learn how to distinguish the different textiles and how to use them. Each student furnishes her own materials, and is allowed to make only garments of practical use. This avoids the fifty cents a month fee, which is required of the students taking cooking. The making of button holes, basting and hemstitching is also included in their work.

The domestic economy department is indispensable in a high school. It teaches girls the practical side of life a thing which few of them would ever think of otherwise.

Our department has recently been inspected by the State High School Inspector and has been pronounced one of the best in the State.

News Items.

The Service Flag exercise which were to have been held Friday, have been postponed until next week, because the speakers and soloists, who were on the program had conflicting dates and could not be present, but there will be no further postponement is assured even if Professor Koffman has to furnish the speeches and solos.

Miss Marshall has left school to attend the bed-side of her sister-in-law who is critically ill.

For the past week the Science department has been testing seed corn for the farmers. The charge is one cent per ear.

Every pupil in the 7th grade of the Belmont school, taught by Miss Susie Rutherford, has purchased Thrift Stamps.

Mrs. Frank S. Adams has been ordained to preach and will fill her husband's pulpit in the Universalist church at Champaign, Ill.
